

CHILD SPONSORSHIP FAQ

What is a child sponsorship?

- A child sponsorship is a monthly contribution to a specific child or children that provides them with basic needs, as well as access to education, and opportunities to learn and grow in our care.

How much does it cost?

- A full child sponsorship is $150 per month, but we find it important to be able to meet our supporters where they are, and offer sponsorships starting at $25 per month.

What does my sponsorship provide?

- A full child sponsorship of $150 per month provides for your child's holistic needs. You are personally contributing to their physical, emotional, educational and spiritual needs. This includes food, shelter, clothing, the cost of school tuition, uniforms and supplies. Your sponsorship will also help offset costs for additional learning opportunities such as life skills training, and other educational courses that will help your child live a sustainable life on their own.

Can I communicate with my sponsored child?

- Yes! We welcome and encourage our child sponsors to foster a lasting relationship with their sponsored child. When you sponsor a child, you will be able to write digitally to your child, get to know them, send them words of encouragement, and let them know you are praying for them.

How do I write my child?

- Each child sponsor will receive an email with a link to access the letter writing form, as well as some letter writing guidelines to get you started.

Is there a language barrier?

- English is their second language.

How often does my child get letters?

- Your letters to your sponsored child will be hand-delivered when we have teams visit our homes. Ideally we would like to have your letters distributed once a quarter, however with current restrictions and for the health and safety of the children and house parents, our trips are not as frequent. With that being said, we will always notify our sponsors when we have teams traveling to the country to make sure you have the opportunity to write to your child if you have already not done so.
